

Media: A Magazine
 Date: November issue
 Page: 49
 Headline: This Way To the Future

Lim Qing Ru, Carol Shieh, Jacqueline Wang, Sammi Lim, Serene Chua, Judy Hunt, Linda Seo-Tan, Eugenia Gajardo and Saadia Albrecht

Barry Yeow

Halimah Yacob

Daniel Teo

Shann Soh

Industrial & Services Co-operative Society Ltd

THIS WAY TO THE FUTURE

Fairy godmothers and titans are real. The Industrial & Services Co-operative Society Ltd (ISCOS) explained its programmes, including the "Fairy Godparent", to more than 360 guests at its 30th Anniversary Charity Gala on 5 September. Besides actively engaging the community to help ex-offenders gain a foothold in society, ISCOS and reintegrated offenders (called "Titans") support them and their families through various initiatives. The night also saw the launch of a new charity, the ISCOS ReGen Fund, to support these initiatives. ISCOS ambassadors like Clement Chow performed while chef Benny Se Teo of Eighteen Chefs, an ex-offender who hires other ex-offenders, created the main course. Artist Barry Yeow, also an ex-offender, painted a unique art piece that President Halimah Yacob finished for the silent auction.

Paulina Bohm and Annabel Bohm

Alicia Ng and Loh May-Han

Text:

This Way to the Future

By Marie Wee

Fairy godmothers and titans are real. The Industrial & Services Co-Operative Society Ltd (ISCOS) explained its programmes, including the "Fairy Godparent", to more than 360 guests at its 30th Anniversary Charity Gala on 5 September. Besides actively engaging the community to help ex-offenders gain a foothold in society, ISCOS and reintegrated offenders (called "Titans") support them and their families through various initiatives. The night also saw the launch of a new charity, the ISCOS ReGen Fund, to support these initiatives. ISCOS ambassadors like Clement Chow performed while chef Benny Se Teo of Eighteen Chefs, an ex-offender who hires other ex-offenders, created the main course. Artist Barry Yeow, also an ex-offender, painted a unique art piece that President Halimah Yacoob finished for the silent auction.